

Plan your dream two-storey extension

Significantly expand your living space while adding serious wow factor to your home

WORDS REBECCA FOSTER

The rear extension and refurbishment of this semi-detached house in Hackney, east London is by Cousins & Cousins (020 7482 4009; cousinsandcousins.com). A light, structural glulam timber insertion was used for the extension, which created a stunning series of light-filled interior zones. The cost of this project was around £3,000 per sqm

There are a number of factors to consider from the outset of your project including design, planning matters, funding and budget. Plan well and you'll have a fantastic new addition to your home that will also increase its value. For a design that complements your property, you'll want to engage the services of a top-notch professional. 'An architect has an understanding of space and light,' says Carl Huntley, managing director at »

